BRYAN KEPT OFF PLATFORM BODY

Administration Forces Also Deny Seat to Senator Reed In Convention, Now on Second Day

(By Associated Press)
San Francisco, Cal., July 29.—On the first division in the platform committee on the angle of the prohibition fight today, the Bryan contingent forced over their protest by a vote of 27 to 25 to present their case first in committee hearings.

(By Associated Press)
San Francisco, June 29.—The Administration forces went into the second day of the Democratic National Convention apparently fully controlling the situation.

Among its achievements, it denied Senator Reed, of Missouri, a seat in the convention which the Credentials Committee refused, after four hours argument, by a vote of 37 to 9. It succeeded in placing Administration men at the head of important committees and excluded Bryan from the sub-committee to draft the platform. The apparently threatened anti-Administration fight relating to organization of the convention, collapsed without a showing.

McAdoo's name will be placed in nomination "at the earliest opportunity," his supporters decided at a conference today. Rev. Burris A. Jenkins, of Kansas City, making the nominating speech.

The Committee on Rules today adopted a motion rejecting the unit rule in states where the laws require selection of delegates by districts. The effect will be to split the New York delegation; if the report is adopted by the convention.

After the Administration's night of successes, observers say they would not be surprised now to see a definite trend toward some particular candidate for the presidential nomination. There were no surface indications today, however, when the convention met that there was any material change in the relative standing of the candidates.

The full Committee on Platform occupied the time before the opening of the convention, which was fixed for one o'clock, to giving hearings to various interests with planks to offer.

The Committee on Rules also met and threshed out the unit rule question, seeking to adopt some regulation which would not conflict with state primary laws.

Delegates are expectant as to whether the nominating speeches will be reached today.

The Rules Committee decided they may be made, but there will be no balloting until the platform is adopted.

The big speech today was that of Senator Robinson, Permanent Chairman. Senator Robinson assailed the republican party for its Chicago platform, for the disclosures of the use of large sums in the pre-convention contests and he particularly attacked the republican Senators, who fought ratification of the peace treaty with the League of Nations covenant.

"Tested by every standard which voters usually apply," he said, "the Democratic party is entitled to victory in the coming campaign."

The convention session today was routine, with a prospect of a spectacular fight on the convention floor over the action of the credential committee, which sustained the national committee in refusal of a seat to Senator Reed as a delegate, was hedged with uncertainty. Some predicted the contest was ended unless he sought to force himself into place with the Missouri delegation. The Georgia case, in which the Palmer delegates sought to the exclusion of the Smith-Watson faction, also seemed unsettled.

McAdoo's people came to the floor today for the first time with a working organization, including a floor leader and a representative practically from every state organization.

Attention to the connection of presidential candidates was switched to the White House, inasmuch as the administration is in control of the convention machinery. Its forces are apparently in a position to guide the adoption of a platform and veto an unsatisfactory candidate.

The White House silence led to discussion of dark horses, including Vice President Marshall, Chairman Cummings and John W. Davis, ambassador to Great Britain.

While the actual work of the convention is now under way, the presidential contest has taken on

Weather For Kentucky

Warm and probably fair weather tonight and Wednesday.

new vigor. When the delegates went to bed last night there were flurries and chills everywhere because of the report that the big New York delegation, counted as a Cox citadel had been captured by McAdoo whose star is blazing brightly in the fog of rumor and report. When they arose this morning authoritative denial was issued through the Tamany chieftains.

What was true was that the statements made on behalf of Gov. Cox by his managers, indicating a neutral attitude toward the liquor issue, had caused the extremists in New York, Illinois, and Minnesota and other states to become chilly toward his candidacy pending inquiry. This became pronounced when it was announced that Senator Atlee Pomerene, of Ohio, had been directed by his colleagues to vote for this neutrality in the committee on resolutions.

Advantage of this condition was taken by the managers of other candidates to make drive against the Ohio man, and during this performance to exaggerate the actual situation.

Amid it the candidacy of John W. Davis, of West Virginia, Ambassador to England, was thrust into prominence, and an effort made to go after the Ohio and Mississippi Valley delegates. Later the flurry subsided, but it remained manifest that the Ohio candidate had received a check.

Whether or not this check, if final remains to be demonstrated. There is doubt upon this point. One of the members of the Cabinet, who is for McAdoo, declared that Cox has lost but little strength in the flurry. Interviews among the New York delegates as individuals show that Gov. Cox is still popular. The matter is one of leadership.

Similar conditions exist in Illinois. There is a suspicion that the liberals may be using sharp strategy to gain support for their plan in the convention. They have secured the Cox managers, and now seem to be tempting the McAdoo and Palmer arrays while also holding out hope to the followers of Ambassador Davis.

As for Bryan and the dregs, who are fighting Cox, they naturally are pleased. Bryan never has permitted himself to say for whom he really is going to vote. His utterances have been negative. If Cox is retired from consideration, the Nebraska will have to face the prospect of acting upon the so-called "hyphenate" candidate, McAdoo. It will take at least two days, however, to clarify the presidential situation. All but two of the twenty candidates, active and passive, must be eliminated in order to make the test.

Meanwhile, the McAdoo boomers, using familiar tactics that are not always successful, as Hiram W. Johnson will testify, are endeavoring to vocalize a victory for their man. There is much noise but the tally sheet does not carry a corresponding number of votes for him.

Twenty-four hours ago through a clever move, it was made to appear that the former Secretary had consented to run, but it was soon ascertained that he had not said so himself, the statement being traced to Thomas Love, of Texas, National Committeeman. Today there appeared in the hands of J. J. Shouse, of Kansas, a telegram from Daniel C. Roper, former Collector of Internal Revenue, who was chosen to be McAdoo's manager, but who left the field when his chief announced his refusal to run.

This said that "in view of the storm of protests about the withdrawal, our friend says he can do no more and will abide by the decision of the convention." In the afternoon papers, however, appeared a New York dispatch saying that this morning at his office McAdoo refused to be quoted. Roper is in Washington.

The cold hard fact is that the McAdoo candidacy will have to undergo the scrutiny of the delegates and his availability passed upon. If the "son-in-law" and "Crown Prince" gibes carry weight he will be rejected, but the chances are that his friends will know by the time balloting is begun whether or not to permit him to remain before the convention.

Inside figures are that upon the first ballot Palmer will receive more than 300 votes, a number of his friends placing the number at 400. McAdoo will have near 256

McADOO'S FRIENDS OPEN HEADQUARTERS

(By Associated Press)
San Francisco, June 29.—Such headquarters as McAdoo will have at the convention were opened here today. They consist of three rooms rented, by personal friends. No one is in charge nor is a publicity campaign being planned. McAdoo's friends claim anywhere from 250 to 300 votes. His friends say he may run third in early balloting. They expect Palmer to lead because he has a tremendous complimentary vote. They said Cox may run second and after that they expect a break to McAdoo.

BANK ROBBERY FOILED IN LINCOLN

(By Associated Press)
Hustonsville, Ky., June 29.—Roused by Miss Sophia Dye, telephone exchange operator, citizens early today surrounded the Peoples' Bank from the cellar of which two men ran to a waiting automobile, and escaped amid a shower of bullets. This is the second Kentucky bank robbery frustrated by a woman within a week. The other was at Finchville, Shelby county.

BOB FRIEND, OF IRVINE, IN AIRPLANE FALL

Robert R. Friend, of Irvine, who has many friends in Richmond and Madison county, had a close call out in California the other day when he fell in an airplane. Mr. Friend is one of the 7th district delegates to the democratic national convention. He did not go on straight through to Frisco with the Kentucky special train, but went to Los Angeles first and then was preparing to fly from there to San Francisco, when the machine he went up in took a tumble. The dispatch said that a slight bruise on Mr. Friend's head was the only mark he sustained in the accident, very lucky. The dispatch says that Mr. Friend says he found the country "progressively democratic as he traveled west."

The improvements of cleaning, renovating, etc., of the various public schools of the county which will be opened on July 19, are well under way. There is remodeling at several of the schools and this work will be accomplished in time for the opening.

and Cox between 165 and 175. Palmer's friends are making herculean efforts to push him up with in striking distance, but his candidacy for some reason does not seem to appeal. The drive against him by the representatives of the American Federation of Labor, begun yesterday, is having its effect.

The news that the candidacy of Vice President Thomas R. Marshall, of Indiana, is not to be anything more than formal instead of a genuine drive has encouraged both the McAdoo and Cox men who are seeking the Indiana support. As for the myriad of other aspirants, they merely are marking time and awaiting a "Hardin opportunity."

Bryan Subsides a Tuffe

(By Associated Press)
San Francisco, June 29.—With the Administration's grip firm on the machinery which will write the Democratic platform, it is believed today there is less prospect of a fight on the platform planks on the convention floor, than at any time since convention leaders assembled.

William Jennings Bryan, omitted from the sub-committee on Platform, said he probably will not present his planks on prohibition, League of Nations and other subjects for sub-committee consideration at all.

Cut This Out and Take It With You

A man often forgets the exact name of the article he wishes to purchase and as a last resort takes something else instead. That is all right. The safe way is to cut this out and take it with you so as to make sure of getting Chamberlain's Tablets. You will find nothing quite so satisfactory for constipation and indigestion.

MADISON COUNTY GAVE BRIDE A DAY FOR JUNE

While there were no marriage licenses issued Tuesday, Cupid is two ahead this far in producing a bride a day for Madison county during the month of June. Thus far, 32 young women of the county have been married and there is a day to spare. This record is greater than that for last year, when there were but 24 licenses issued in Madison county during the month of June.

LATE NEWS FLASHES

Five Kentucky distilleries will soon be put in commission, making commercial alcohol out of molasses.

Booze Is Not a Good Cure

(From the Ames, Iowa, Intelligencer)
When a man comes to you all doubled up with pain and declares that he will die in your presence unless you procure him a drink of whisky, send him to a doctor or else give him a dose of Chamberlain's Colic and Diarrhoea Remedy. There is a mistaken notion among a whole lot of people that booze is the best remedy for colic and stomach trouble.

RICHMOND TO KEEP OPEN HOUSE MONDAY

Big Court Day Expected, Since Banks and Other Business Places Will Not Close

Next Monday, July 5, also court day, promises to be a very busy one in Richmond, since it will afford an opportunity for many of the country people to take a day off, owing to July 4 falling on Sunday, and it has been decided to keep the county offices, banks and other business establishments generally open for the day during the usual hours.

There are many inquiries regarding whether there will be any business houses open, due to the fact that in some places there would be a general observance of the Glorious Fourth, but Richmond will represent former days when there is an old reliable court day, since it is expected that many more than usual will take advantage of the occasion to come to the city. The city establishments will also be open for business during the regular hours, it is reported, and there will be no special celebration of the Fourth of July.

There is much speculation regarding the sale of livestock, despite the fact that there is a record-breaking attendance expected. At this season of the year, all available horses are, like the men of the country, busy. While there is a demand for saddle horses and ponies there was low bidding at the last meeting and the heavy sale of horses is expected after the fall work has been finished on the farm.

Monday night in city court, Boyd Sandlin, charged with malicious shooting, as a result of having injured Simpson Rogers Sunday evening at the Richmond hotel, of which he is proprietor, when Rogers is said to have attacked him after throwing pop bottles and other missiles, entered a plea of not guilty, and gave bond in the sum of $200 for his appearance Friday night, July 2. Rogers was said to have been unable to appear as a result of the wound in his shoulder.

City Judge G. Murray Smith, upon learning that the plaintiff in the case was unable to appear, stated that the proceedings would be continued then, but would be taken up on Friday night, when a number of witnesses summoned by Sandlin were notified to appear. No evidence was taken in the case. Rogers has made no statement, it is said, even to officials who have been identified with the case. In speaking of the affair last night, which Mr. Sandlin said he deplored, he stated that his shirt was almost torn from his body, when Rogers attacked him, and he was forced to protect himself. He added that he certainly would not have shot Rogers in the arm or shoulders had he wanted to kill him. Sandlin admitted the shooting, but stated emphatically that he did not shoot with the intention of killing the man who was assaulting him.

CHAUTAUQUA
The big tent is on the ground and everything will be in readiness for the opening on Wednesday afternoon. Get your season tickets from the local committee at once. It is cheaper and better to buy season tickets. Single admissions to all the attractions and war tax will cost over $9.00; a season ticket plus the war tax costs only $3.00. The single admissions to the night program alone costs double the price of a season ticket. Single admissions to three night features—Louise Stallings, with the Mendelssohn Trio, "Pinafore" and "Nothing but the Truth" will cost you more than the price of a season ticket. Be wise and buy a season ticket before Chautauqua begins.

Tickets on sale at Perry's Drug Store, Stockton's Drug Store, Elder's Store, Southern National Bank and State Bank and Trust Company. Afternoon session begins at 3:30; evening 8 o'clock.

Rabbit Association
A feature of the meeting of the recently organized Blue Grass Association, which is to be held at the Y. M. C. A. at Lexington, will be an address by C. S. Gibson, of Detroit, secretary of the National Breeders' and Fanciers' Association.

THE MARKETS

QUARTERLY COURT SESSION CONTINUES

Owing to the extensive list of cases in the Madison quarterly court, it is very probable that the regular session opening Monday morning will not be concluded until Tuesday evening. There are a number of jury cases to be given consideration and this requires more time. The following cases have been disposed of:

Oldham & Rowland vs. United States railroad administration, dismissed; settled.

Rice & Arnold vs. Adams Express company, passed.

PRINCE GETS BOND AND HIS FREEDOM

Malcom Prince, a young man from Tennessee who was recently placed in custody after a check he had been issued had been refused at a local bank, has gained his freedom upon furnishing bond in the sum of $100 for his appearance later.

Young Prince, when arrested, told officers of having become connected with a number of young men who induced him to take the check to the bank and secure money on it. He claimed that they threatened him with bodily harm, and awaited his return from the bank and were angry when he failed to get the money. After being incarcerated for some time, it is claimed he recited a number of conflicting tales regarding the money, and intimated that he was no more guilty than the others, although none of the "others" have been apprehended.

Fifth Marriage For Man 4 Score and 4

Princeton, Ky., June 29.—R. B. Williett and Mrs. Lena Sheehan, of Sturgis, were married. The groom is 84 years of age. This is his fifth marriage, while his bride is 74 years old and this is her third marriage.

BIG RAIN AT BERE A

Get caught in the rain this morning? This question is being put to his friends by L. R. Blanton, local coal merchant, who arrived home from Berea, "soaking wet," he having been caught out in a heavy rain which fell in that vicinity Tuesday morning.

A FORMAL ORDER ISSUED TEACHERS

State Superintendent Colvin Instructs County Officers Relative to the Instructors

County School Superintendent B. F. Edwards reports that at a meeting of the county superintendents of the schools of this district there was a decision rendered to the effect that all teachers must be in attendance at the institute which convenes at the Eastern Normal July 12.

State Superintendent George Colvin has notified the superintendents of the schools of the district that the new ruling would be effective throughout the state and that it was imperative that all instructors be in attendance at the institute, such violation bringing forth the revocation of their certificates. The ruling, which was announced some time ago, it would appear, was taken lightly by some of the teachers. However, the official notice has been given and the teachers of the state of Kentucky are being sent official notices by the superintendents of the schools of the county, informing them of the ruling, so that there will be no danger of failure to be familiar with the requirement. This is the first time this ruling has been made; however, it is felt necessary, in order to insure the interest and attention of the teachers generally. There are some, it is claimed, who look upon the institutes with pleasure, while others are said to view it as an unnecessary imposition upon about one week of their time before the opening of schools.

The local superintendent, at a recent meeting of the board, was instructed to inform the teachers also that they would be expected to remain close at hand and to concentrate all interest and energy upon the schools under their control.

BATHERS IN DANGER; WATER COURSE CHANGE

There was a decrease in the number of drownings Sunday in Kentucky and adjacent states, according to dispatches, and the danger lines are being drawn more tightly, since the country has been awakened to the fact that many, unable to swim, take chances in strange water depths.

During the past three weeks there has been an extensive list but the abrupt decrease is evident that precautions are being taken. There have been a number of near drownings in the Kentucky river, two occurring Sunday, both of which, it is said, would have resulted fatally, one to a woman, a Mrs. J. J. J. of Winchester, and another, an unknown man, as a result of the chances taken in strange waters.

There are said to be many treacherous places along the Kentucky river this year. One man, who has been a fisherman and who is accustomed to bathing along the river for miles, within the borders of Madison county, reports that there are many changes in the current as well as the course of the water, and that places where the water was former shallow, one would go down "over their head and hands," before they knew it. He stated that recently while seining for minnows, north of the city in his accustomed place, he stepped off into a hole and disappeared beneath the water. He remarked that he would have been drowned had he not been a good swimmer.

"MOLLY AND I" TONIGHT

BY MISS SHIRLEY MASON

Miss Shirley Mason, the charming star here tonight, will be presented by William Fox in a delightful comedy, "Molly and I," based on the successful novel, "Molly and I and the Silver Ring," by Frank R. Adams.

Mis Mason is one of the most lovable roles of her screen experience and her work is said to surpass her best previous efforts. An unusually strong cast supports the delightful little star. Albert Roscoe, her handsome leading man, is described as happy in the character of the blind author for whom Shirley fights hard and determinedly, and the other parts are in very capable hands.
